COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course surveys historical changes in the definition of crime and the administration of criminal law. While the adversarial criminal trial with jury is associated with the medieval origins of the common law, the basic elements of our current criminal justice system reflect relatively recent transformations in law enforcement, the criminal trial and punishment. These transformations are associated with the rise of the modern state and were responses to the effects of industrialization, urbanization, and colonization. The course focuses on 18th and 19th century England, and on the adoptions of the English criminal law and institutions in late 18th and 19th century Canada. Selected issues in criminal law history are also explored (eg., the experiences of first nations and women, resort to criminal law during political crises).

COURSE ORGANIZATION

Lecture and class discussions. Students will be expected to have completed the required readings from the 3305 coursepack (or made available on CUlearn) for a particular week's topic as specified in the schedule set out on the following pages.

REQUIRED READING MATERIALS

Purchase of the following coursepack is required. It contains all the assigned readings and is available in the university bookstore:

B. Wright, LAWS/HIST 3305 Crime and State in History (2014 ed.) (used copies of the 3305 coursepack, 2010 edition onwards, regardless of instructor name, will suffice).

Lecture abstracts (overhead displays in class) and essay topics will be made available on cuLearn or accessed from links from the course outline on the Law website.

COURSE EVALUATION

- a) Research Essay 50%
(10-15 pages, Due 12 November 2014)

- b) Final Examination 50%
(3 hour closed book, scheduled during December Exam Period),

NOTES ABOUT EVALUATION

All components must be completed in order to get a passing grade.

Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor subject to the approval of the Department and of the Faculty Dean. This means that grades submitted by the instructor may be subject to revision. No grades are final until they have been approved by the Department and the Dean.

Failure to complete any portion of the required course assessment will result in a final grade of F. A deferred examination or essay assignment, following the same format, may be written upon application to/approval from the Registrar's Office.

Exams are not returned but may be reviewed with me during office hours the following term. Essays will be returned at the final exam review class at the end of term. They may also be picked up from me during office hours or returned by post where a stamped self-addressed envelope is provided. Otherwise they will be returned at the final exam.

Late essays will be marked down one-half letter grade (eg. B to B-) for each day submitted after the due date without authorized extension from me. Essays must be typed or word-processed and submitted in hard copy. Handwritten papers, computer files, or email attachments will not be accepted. Please retain a photocopy or a secure file copy of the submitted essay. Essays must be submitted in person to me in class on the due date. In exceptional circumstances only, the essay may be deposited in the essay drop box located outside of the Department of Law and Legal Studies Main Office, room C473 Loeb Building, by 4:00 pm on the due date. The Department of Law and Legal Studies assumes no responsibility for essays or assignments submitted in an irregular manner.

All assignments must be original. Prior approval of the instructor must be obtained if it is intended to submit work that has previously or concurrently been submitted for credit in this or another course. Please note all University regulations concerning plagiarism and related instructional offences in the Undergraduate Calendar.
