Academic Accommodations

You may need special arrangements to meet your academic obligations during the term. For an accommodation request the processes are as follows:

Pregnancy obligation: write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details visit the Equity Services website: <http://www2.carleton.ca/equity/>

Religious obligation: write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details visit the Equity Services website: <http://www2.carleton.ca/equity/>

Academic Accommodations for Students with Disabilities: The Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) provides services to students with Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/mental health disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), chronic medical conditions, and impairments in mobility, hearing, and vision. If you have a disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact PMC at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send me your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). After requesting accommodation from PMC, meet with me to ensure accommodation arrangements are made. Please consult the PMC website for the deadline to request accommodations for the formally-scheduled exam (if applicable)

You can visit the Equity Services website to view the policies and to obtain more detailed information on academic accommodation at <http://www2.carleton.ca/equity/>

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one's own. Plagiarism includes reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else's published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one's own without proper citation or reference to the original source. Examples of sources from which the ideas, expressions of ideas or works of others may be drawn from include but are not limited to: books, articles, papers, literary compositions and phrases, performance compositions, chemical compounds, art works, laboratory reports, research results, calculations and the results of calculations, diagrams, constructions, computer reports, computer code/software, and material on the Internet. Plagiarism is a serious offence.

DESCRIPTION OF THE COURSE

Students who have taken my section of Criminal Justice System (Laws 2301) or Criminal Law (Laws 2302) know already that I am a criminal defense lawyer who teaches from a practical perspective, as if it were a law school course. I consider this course, which I am teaching for the 10th time, to be an extension of the introductory criminal law courses. The focus will continue to be on jurisprudence and legal principles, i.e., the tools that lawyers use when defending or prosecuting young persons accused of crime, and the tools available to Judges who deal with youths. I will rely heavily on guest lecturers to help put the reading materials into real-life context.

In recent years I have not required a textbook, but have recommended the Tustin and Lutes Guide to the Youth Criminal Justice Act. My experience was that students felt more secure having a textbook, so I am returning to that format. Therefore I will be asking you to read much of the authoritative text, Youth Criminal Justice Law, by Bala and Anand.

You will also need to have a copy of the YCJA, which you can either download from the Justice Canada website (<http://laws-lois.justice.gc.ca/eng/acts/Y-1.5/index.html>) or which you can buy in annotated form in the form of the Tustin and Lutes text.

You should also have a copy of the Criminal Code, which again you can download or view online (<http://laws-lois.justice.gc.ca/eng/acts/C-46/index.html>) or which you can purchase in the form of an unannotated or annotated Code. If you buy a Criminal Code, it will have included in the same book the YCJA, the Charter of Rights and other legislation. It is not necessary to buy a YCJA and a Criminal Code.

Because the YCJA is a relatively new piece of legislation that is still in the early stages of being interpreted by the courts (and reacted to by politicians), you will need to read various recent cases from the Supreme Court of Canada as well as provincial appellate courts, likely some of which have not yet been decided. I will direct you throughout the term to a number of recent decisions. In addition, I will rely on information available on the internet, including background papers at the Department of Justice (Canada) website, and statistics available there or at the Statistics Canada website.

We will begin the course with a brief review of criminal procedure generally: it is necessary to understand the general law before examining how the law is different for youths. We will then review the history of the Youth Criminal Justice Act, including its antecedents such as the Young Offenders Act and the Juvenile Delinquents Act. Reviewing the history of the law will involve comparing the changing philosophy with respect to youth crime. We will also rely on statistical information in order to appreciate the true magnitude of youth crime, as well as to observe the practical impact of the YCJA.

The bulk of the course will be taken up with procedures and considerations that relate specifically to youths, particularly sentencing. As we go through the material, we will look at recent amendments to the YCJA, which are an excellent example of the interplay between politics and the criminal justice system.

The second half of the course is largely taken up with guest lectures. My experience is that students truly enjoy these lectures and take advantage of the opportunity to speak with professionals who can give them practical career advice and even opportunities.

My objective is that students finish the course with a practical knowledge of the Canadian criminal justice system as it relates to youths, and that students be capable of critically analyzing media reports on youth crime, including its “prevalence” and the notion that young people are dealt with too leniently. I do not expect students to agree with me on all or even any points. Exams will be structured so that you will be tested on your knowledge of facts relating to youth criminal justice in Canada, and not on your knowledge of my opinions.

One final note regarding CUOL courses. It is wonderful that university courses can be provided to students other than via the traditional classroom lecture. This enables students to take courses that would otherwise be inaccessible to them because of distance, employment, family responsibilities and/or disability. The downside, though, is that the ability to see the lectures any time at one’s convenience causes many students to fall behind, saving up the lectures until just before the exam and then cramming them in during a marathon session. While this is better than nothing, I strongly discourage this strategy in this or any other course. Do your best to keep up with the lectures weekly, and avoid the temptation to fall behind. By all means, come to class whenever you like, whichever section of the course you are registered in.

I hope that you enjoy the course, and I look forward to hearing from you as we go along. Course-content-related questions sent to me by e-mail may be answered to the class as a whole so that all students have the same information.

REQUIRED TEXT

Nicholas Bala and Sanjeev Anand, Youth Criminal Justice Law (Third Edition) (Irwin Law Inc., 2012)

SUPPLEMENTARY TEXTS

Lee Tustin and Robert Lutes, A Guide to the Youth Criminal Justice Act, 2015 Edition (LexisNexis Canada, 2014)

Any version of the Criminal Code that also includes the Youth Criminal Justice Act and the Charter of Rights

METHOD OF EVALUATION

(All components must be completed in order to get a passing grade)

Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor subject to the approval of the Department and of the Faculty Dean. This means that grades submitted by the instructor may be subject to revision. No grades are final until they have been approved by the Department and the Dean.

- (1) Mid-Term Exam: this 3-hour open-book exam is scheduled for Friday, November 14, 2014 from 6-9 PM, and will cover the first 6 lectures.
- (2) Final examination, 3-hour open-book, to be held in the December examination period (December 10-21), covers Lectures 7-12.

“Open book”, for the purpose of the exam, means that the following materials may be brought into the examination room: (1) the Bala & Anand textbook; (2) any version of the Criminal Code or YCJA, including the Tustin and Lutes text; (3) your lecture notes (or any notes that you shared with a study group or that you have with the permission of their author), and (4) any material downloaded from the course website, including the instructor’s lecture notes and PowerPoint/Keynote slides; (5) any e-mails sent by the instructor. You may NOT make use of a computer during the exams, except with permission of the Paul Menton Center.

Grade breakdown: the exam that you do best in will be worth 60% of your final grade; the other exam will be worth 40% of your final grade.

TEACHING ASSISTANTS / MARKERS

There are normally 2 TA’s for this course. One TA has been assigned to the “B” section, while the other has been assigned to the “T” section. The TA’s have not been assigned as of the date of this handout, but I will provide contact information once I have it.
